The Copper Syndicate Contracts, [Nashville American, (Dem.)] We have not agreed with Mr. Randall on the Mills bill. The bill is liberal to the South in some respects, so much so that leading Rapublicans have constantly assailed it as a measure in the interest of the South. Besides, it clearly recognizes the protective principle in the Chicago platform. In seme of its details it is a mistake, and it is new conceded it will be amended in the House. Mr. Randall has, however, taken care of himself in a speech the usage of the copper trade, at a vance. in the House which, for tariff learning price per unit of copper contained in The beautiful moonlight of countries and truthful and conservative expe- the eres.
